

Council Adopts Budget Based On Same 10-Mill Tax Rate; Buy New Police Car From H. And H.

Gettysburg borough council formally adopted its $125,000 budget for this year at its meeting Monday evening at the engine house. There were no changes from the budget tentatively adopted a month ago.

The tax rate was again set at 10 mills on real estate and occupation assessments. Adoption of the budget and tax rate took only a few minutes of the three-hour session because the action merely formalized decisions reached a month ago.

Order New Truck Too
Much time was spent on opening bids for a new police car and a new truck for the highway department. The bid of H. and H. Machine Shop to provide a Pontiac police car for $1,354 was accepted as was the bid of McCauslin Motors to provide a Dodge dump truck and place the present body of the Diamond T. truck on it for $2,253.08.

For the police car, Warren Chevrolet submitted a bid for a Chevrolet at a net price of $953 and for another at $1,027. Adams County Motors submitted a bid for a Ford at $1,300 and another at $1,560. H. and H. Machine shop submitted bids for Pontiacs at $1,205 and $1,354; McCauslin Motors submitted bids for a Plymouth at $1,350.75 and a Dodge at $1,439.25. The amounts were based on trading in the old police car and were minus federal tax which the borough does not have to pay, a sum totalling more than $100 on each car.

All of the bids were submitted listing the equipment on the cars, and giving details of the types of clutches, transmissions, etc.

Bids for the trucks included: McCauslin's Dodge, $2,253.08; Gettysburg Motors, International, $2,292; Warren Chevrolet, $2,555; Adams County Motors, F-600, $2,350.70. As in the bids for the police car, all of the bids for trucks were based on trading in the Diamond-T. and removal of the federal tax.

Council recessed for 15 minutes after reading of the bids to permit the Safety and Highways committees to study the specifications to determine which, in their opinion, represented the "best buy."

When the committees returned they recommended the $1,345 Pontiac and the $2,253.08 Dodge truck and council accepted the recommendations and awarded the contracts.

Exonerations And Praise
Tax Collector J. Herbert Weikert was exonerated from taxes totalling $451.26 to permit him to get his new bond, but the collector, in a letter to council, expressed the belief that he would be able to collect a portion of the $451. "At present I have placed several wage attachments," Weikert wrote, but he added that the 60-day limit has not expired and he cannot take further steps to collect the amounts until that time. He also said that he plans to collect some other outstanding taxes from individuals: "If I can catch them working."

Council praised Weikert for his ability to collect taxes and noted that the exonerations asked this year, $451.26, are lower than the amount for which he received exonerations last year, $1,093.84.

Councilman Robert D. Fidler presented an ordinance which will grant digging permits for 48-hour periods only, thus if a ditch is open more than 48 hours a new permit is needed — at the same cost as the original one. Since permits run about $50 or higher, council felt that the monetary expense should lead to quicker closing of ditches. The ordinance would permit the burgess, in event of emergency to extend the 48-hour limit for up to 48 hours longer. The ordinance will come up for final adoption next month.

Another ordinance read to council called for four-way stop signs at the alley intersections at the rear of the American Legion building, at the rear of Council President Oiler's home on Baltimore St., at Wall St. intersection, at the intersection of Delap Ave. and the alley west of Carlisle St., and for a stop sign at Wainwright Ave. and the high school road. The ordinance will go to the planning commission for recommendation.

Beaver told police he believes the truck was taken about 6 a.m. this morning. He said he heard a motor start about that time but thought it was the milk man.

COUNCIL ORDERS PARKING METER REPORT IN APRIL

Borough council Monday evening asked the safety committee to study the borough's parking meter needs and report next month on whether the town should have its present meters repaired, purchase reconditioned or new meters of the automatic type.

The matter was turned over to the committee after a Miller Meter Company representative reported that repair of the present hand-operated meters would run from $15 to $20 per machine, and renovated meter heads in which all parts are new with the exception of the frame can be obtained for $21.95 each. Or, he added, automatic machines, which contain a special coin gathering tube that cannot be opened until it is placed inside a closed collection wagon can be purchased at $45.50 each.

Two hundred and thirty meters are 11 years old, council was informed. Repaired meters are not guaranteed. The renovated meters are guaranteed for one year.

Council voted to have an ordinance drawn to place parking meters on the north side of the first block of E. Middle St. from the Methodist church to Stratton St.

Approval was given for the purchase of two truck loads of tar by the highway committee.

The highway and safety committees were directed to study the possibility of one-way traffic over part of West St. Councilman Harold Ecker brought up the matter of the traffic light showing green on West St. and Buford Ave. simultaneously and said that it created a traffic hazard. Other members of council observed they had been attempting for several years to get state permission to change the light but such permission was withheld because of the four streets at the one intersection. There was considerable discussion on how cars en-

SNYDER OFFERS LAND TO TOWN

Councilman George W. Naugle Monday reported to borough council that S. F. Snyder, W. Stevens St., has offered to give the borough a 100 by 150 foot lot on S. Franklin St. near Building Supply, and build thereon a concrete block building in exchange for the present borough shed and property on Race Horse alley between Carlisle and N. Washington Sts.

President H. M. Oyer asked whether Snyder also planned to pave the lot and provide other facilities for the borough at the proposed Franklin St. site. When Naugle said he could not answer that question, Oyer directed that Naugle: "Find out exactly what Snyder will give for the present borough shed and then we can take some action on the matter."

Naugle also reported that a policy providing $5,000 coverage on the old Silsby "General Meade" fire engine can be obtained for $45 a year and that the Conte Brothers, in whose Horse "N" Buggy Museum the ancient fire engine is stored, have agreed to pay for such a policy. The policy covers any type of damage to the engine. Council gave its approval.

Times To Publish History Of Adams County Churches

The history of each Adams County church will be the subject of a new series of news features to be published by The Gettysburg Times. In accordance with its policy of bringing to Adams Countians items of historical and human interest, The Times, in cooperation with the more than 70 clergymen who serve more than 100 county churches, will begin publication of the series in the very near future.

Letters were addressed to the clergymen asking their cooperation in making available for publication the early as well as recent records of their churches. Enthusiastic responses have been received by The Times together with church records and photographs of the church buildings and those who served.

The story of Adams County churches begins with the first county settlements in the early 1700's. Those first hardy settlers were involved in a life-and-death struggle and did not concern themselves with keeping extensive church records so of necessity the story of those early years may be sketchy, but will be factual.

As the churches grew in number and size and their members prospered in this new land, the scope of church activities became so broad that to tell all would fill volumes. Even so, many of the county stalwarts in faith and works could never be recognized.

Realizing these limitations The Gettysburg Times is bringing to you the story of Adams County churches, with illustrations.

Ike And Mamie Send R. C. $100

For the fourth consecutive year, President and Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower have made a $100 contribution to the Red Cross fund campaign in Adams County.

Campaign Chairman George W. Naugle has received a check for $100 from the White House as the Eisenhowers' contribution to the 1956 Red Cross Fund campaign in Adams County. A brief note accompanying the check extended best wishes for the success of the fund raising effort. The note was signed by Col. Robert L. Schulz, the President's military aide.

A letter of acknowledgment has been sent.

ROTARY HEARS ARMSTRONG CO. OFFICIAL SPEAK

American manufacturers spent $8,000,000,000 in 1955 to package their products, Bruce Ludgate, Philadelphia, of the Armstrong Cork Co., told the local Rotary club at its meeting Monday evening in the YWCA.

Speaking on "Putting Your Best Foot Forward," Ludgate told the group: "Packaging of manufacturers' articles is old. In the ruins of Syria, Palestine and Rome archeologists have found beautiful glass bottles that were filled with cosmetics for the ladies of the pre-Christian era. During the Renaissance period some of the most exquisite work of the glass and the porcelain makers went into providing packages for articles to be sold. But in those days packaging was by the many for the few — the few that could afford to buy such articles."

"Henry Ford started a revolution in the United States and the world. Autos were high in price and Ford started mass production and priced his cars as low as he could. But the most important part of his revolution was not that, but the fact that he paid his workers as high a wage as he could, figuring that if he paid them high wages they could buy his cars. And thus we started an endless cycle."

"Back at the turn of the century there was little need for packaging of articles. Business moved with a slow and deliberate pace. But Ford's mass production and Ford's high wages led to higher wages (Continued on Page 3)

ASSISTANCE BOARD HEARS ATTY. TEETER

Dist. Atty. Daniel E. Teeter described past and present Pennsylvania support laws at the regular meeting of the Adams County Board of Assistance Monday night. The passage of a decisive support law is a project of the board.

Atty. Teeter outlined the earliest state laws by which support for needy was obtained from relatives — such as husband and father providing support for wife and children and parents and children supporting each other. He explained that there are both criminal and civil laws of support.

Board Seeks Advice

The most recent statute for support is known as the public assistance law. The board expressed concern about what its policy should be when applicants in need of assistance have relatives who are deemed able to support them. Atty. Teeter cited examples of such cases with which he has had experience.

Mrs. Donald E. Myers, executive director, said the board, at its April 2 meeting, will forward its recommendations to the State Board of Public Assistance in Harrisburg.

At Monday night's meeting the board adopted a resolution asking that "additional funds be appropriated for food grants beyond the department's own minimum standards" and that "the appropriation of $146,000,000 be maintained." The board noted that the budget presented to the Legislature by the Department of Public Assistance is 15 per cent below the minimum deemed essential for its needs. A copy of the resolution will be sent to the department and state officials.

Reports Assistance Given

The board reported 244 local persons receiving old age assistance, 107 receiving blind pension; aid to dependent children, 372; general assistance, 110; aid to disabled, 42, making a total of 875 persons. Allen Stauffer, Biglerville, and the Rev. Charles E. Held, Gettysburg, plan to attend an all day session on "Public Assistance" at the Penn Harris Hotel, Harrisburg, Wednesday. The meeting is conducted by the Pennsylvania Citizens Association.

Members attending the board meeting were S. E. Krichen, chairman, Miss Sylvia E. Klunk, William M. Weidner, the Rev. Charles E. Held and Allen Stauffer. Also present were Mrs. Donald E. Myers, executive director, and Mrs. James Parry, supervisor.

EPIDEMIC OF BLAZES KEEPS FIREMEN BUSY

Adams County firemen answered nine alarms between 2 o'clock Monday afternoon to 7:30 Monday evening.

The first siren to sound was Fountaldale's, with the firemen there called at 2 o'clock to a woods fire near Blue Ridge Summit. Approximately 12 acres of woodland was burned over before the fire was brought under control.

At 2:45 o'clock the Aspers Fire Company was called to a field fire near Mt. Tabor at the property of Blake Taylor.

At 3:30 o'clock Fairfield firemen were called to a grass fire at the Currans property near Orttanna.

At 3:45 o'clock Abbottstown firemen were called to a grass fire a mile north of that community.

Calls Widely Scattered

Cashtown responded to a field fire near McKnightstown station at 4 o'clock Monday afternoon and on its return from that blaze extinguished a grass fire in the Plohr's Church Cemetery.

York Springs firemen were called for the first time Monday evening at 6:30 o'clock when they extinguished a blaze in a pile of lumber at the property of Wally Trimble, Dillsburg R. D. Damage in that fire (Continued on Page 2)

A tea for senior girls at Gettysburg College April 18 was also planned.

Accept Plan To Settle Strike

WASHINGTON (AP)—Westinghouse Electric Corp. today accepted a government plan for settling the 142-day strike at its plants.

No word came immediately from the striking union, the International Union of Electrical Workers, as to whether it would accept the plan.

The settlement proposal, providing for a compromise on all pending issues, was submitted to both sides last Saturday by a three-man panel of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service.

In a brief statement, the company said today:

"Westinghouse management accepts the settlement terms recommended by the special panel of mediators. After a thorough study of the recommendation, management feels the proposed settlement is fair to both company and union."

"If the IUE accepts the recommendations, our employees can begin to return to their jobs tomorrow."

The strike involving about 55,000 workers in 40 plants, began last October and developed into the longest major walkout in two decades.

Crazed Gunman Holds Three Hostages For Three Hours

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A crazed gunman held a priest and two policemen hostage in a captured patrol car today during a chase through two states before one of his police captives overpowered and captured him.

The gunman, Joseph Madara, was subdued as he left the stolen police car to talk over with his wife a possible surrender.

His capture ended a three-hour pursuit during which he fired at New Jersey State Troopers, drove through a roadblock and finally responded to broadcast pleas that he talk over things with his wife and a priest. Neither his hostages nor the New Jersey police were hurt.

Former Mental Patient

Madara was identified by authorities as a former patient in a mental institution who had been arrested for armed robbery.

Authorities were first alerted by reporter George Thompson of the Philadelphia Daily News. The News said Thompson, answering an office telephone call, was told by a man who identified himself as Madara that he wanted to meet a doctor at Rebyrn Plaza, ad-

COUNCIL NOTES TOWN'S 150TH ANNIVERSARY

Gettysburg borough council Monday evening at its meeting in the engine house held its formal observance of the 150th anniversary of the establishment of the town government.

Burgess William G. Weaver read the minutes of the first meeting of council after the town was established as a borough on March 10, 1806 by an act of the state legislature.

The minutes noted that the first meeting was held May 21, 1806, at the home of William McClellan with George Kerr, Emanuel Zeigler, William Garvin, James Dobbin and Walter Smith present. George Kerr was named as the first president and James Gettys, "he then being absent" was elected the town's first clerk and treasurer. The first ordinance passed by council provided for placing the treasurer under a bond of $1,000 and provided for fees amounting to two and one-half per cent of all monies received by him.

The second ordinance passed by council provided for the borough seal — which is believed to be the one still in use today. According to the first minutes the seal was to be paid from "any monies not otherwise expended."

Talk Of Early Days

After reading the first minutes Weaver said the minutes through the early years show that council met practically daily for a time in order to make an assessment of every property and person in the town. Finally a tax bill was passed July 7, 1806, providing for one mill for repair of highways and four mills for general borough purposes. The tax brought in $117.12 for street purposes and $393.81 for general purposes.

Weaver told of formation of the first fire companies, laws against swine running at large in the streets, and similar laws passed by the early council, including ones covering streets and open ditches.

After Burgess Weaver's talk the council spent some time in discussing "old days" in the borough and old families recalled by the names of the original councilmen.

Bange, under construction at Hanover R. 3, and was removed in the ambulance to the Hanover Hospital shortly before 1 p.m. Monday. After emergency treatment at the hospital he was taken to the office of Dr. George E. Thomassy for additional treatment and later was removed to his home. He was reported in satisfactory condition.

Forming New Troop
District Committee Chairman John C. W. Riddle reported 25 scouts from the district attended last week's sessions of the "University of Scouts," scout leadership training course, being presented for the Black Walnut and Conewago districts at New Oxford High School. Next session of the training course will be held tonight and the course will continue through March 27.

Clark Smith, organization and extension chairman, reported that a new troop is being formed in Bonnaville, with an expected membership of from 25 to 35 youths. Members of the district committee are to meet this evening with the York Springs Lions club to discuss re-establishing a troop there. Reorganization of a troop in Fairfield is underway and plans are being discussed for establishment of a Boy Scout troop at Hunters-town.

Charles V. Bright, scout field executive, reported on a statewide scouting training course to be held at West Chester State Teachers College April 14. The Black Walnut District plans to have six of its scouts attend the West Chester session. Chairman Riddle said.

Will Arrest Conductors Whose Trains Block Street Crossings For More Than 5-Minute Periods

Councilman Mahlon P. Hartzell said that the "railroads have been blocking our streets as usual" and suggested that the conductors be arrested.

Council President R. M. Oyer added, "I'm 100 per cent in favor of that, and I understand some of the officials of the Western Maryland suggested that course to break up the practice. Chief, we want the conductors arrested every time they do it. They can't block the crossings more than five minutes."

Blocked 45 Minutes

Councilman Glenn Guise said the N. Stratton St. crossing had been blocked by a train for 45 minutes last Saturday.

Councilman Donald Robert said "I understand there was a breakdown on Saturday. The Western Maryland is trying to cooperate with us. Right now they are holding a freight out of town from noon until 1 p.m. in order not to block the crossings when men are going to and from work. And that is when it really counts, because if a man is late for work he loses pay."

Oyer said he "appreciated" that, but "with the amount of traffic we have on our streets we just can't have crossings blocked 15 or 20 minutes at a time."

Councilman Hartzell declared the town should urge the railroad to construct a yard "out of town" so that there would be no need to block crossings while making up trains.

Barlett Question Unanswered

Chief Bartlett asked whether he should take the conductors immediately to a Justice of the Peace to face charges. He said this might result in the train blocking a crossing until the conductor returned.

Oyer and Hartzell said, "Just arrest the conductor and sent him on his way, someone will pay the fine."

President Oyer, informed that Hartzell plans to enter a Harrisburg hospital for treatment that will take "about three weeks," appointed Councilman Guise to replace Hartzell at a meeting to be held this month with Western Maryland officials on such matters as warning lights at the Fourth St. crossing and blocked crossings.

SENIOR SCOUTS WILL SERVE AS SPOTTERS HERE

Senior Scouts of the Black Walnut Boy Scout district will serve as spotters at the Ground Observer Corps posts in the area, according to plans outlined at a meeting of the district committee Monday evening at the engine house.

Dr. Frederick Tilberg, health and safety chairman for the district, reported on plans for GOC service by the Senior scouts and also announced plans to establish a small arms safety program for scouts under direction of Chief of Police Jack Bartlett and plans to hold a swimming instructor course for older scouts at the Gettysburg Country Club in June.

LIONS GIVE $25, ADD MEMBER AT MONDAY SESSION

Gettysburg Lions donated $25.28 for the "Crusade for Freedom" in voluntary contributions by members at their weekly dinner meeting at the Shetter House Monday evening. President Earl E. Ziegler presided with about 85 members present.

Paul Group, N. Stratton St., was received as a new member of the club and Oliver J. Waybright, Gettysburg R. 2, who was observing his 81st birthday anniversary, was introduced as a guest by his son, Clarence J. Waybright, a member of the club.

President Ziegler announced that a zone meeting will be held at Dillsburg on Monday, April 2, and Program Chairman John Y. Crow told the Lions a joint service club meeting will be held here next Monday with a program to be presented on Civil Defense. The meeting will be held at the Moose home.

The club delayed the election of delegates to the international Lions convention to be held in Miami June 27-30 until next Monday evening. Seven Lions are already in the running for the five delegate posts to be filled.

youth to represent the local post at the camp.

Letters were read from the state department of the American Legion urging participation in the annual Crusade for Freedom drive to raise funds to support Radio Free Europe.

Adjutant William T. Timmins Jr. was instructed to place a scroll in the post quarters to permit members to make individual donations to the Crusade for Freedom.

Discuss Pension Bill
Much of the meeting was devoted to discussion of the proposed "Pension bill" which the American Legion is seeking to have congress pass. The pension bill would provide a pension of up to $105 a month for needy veterans who have passed age 65, would increase the pensions paid disabled veterans and provide pensions for widows and dependents of World War II and Korean veterans. In connection with the discussion an editorial from the Chicago Daily Tribune which accused the Legion of being "greedy" and an answer written by the national commander, J. Adington Wagner, were read.

A film on the Navy was shown by Edward Hibbert, local Navy recruiter. It was announced that the college ROTC unit will show a film on the activities of the 1st, 9th, 23rd, 83rd and 104th Divisions and the Third Armored during the fighting in World War II from Achen to the Ruhr River at the April 2 meeting of the post.

Four new members were accepted during 1955 membership to 806. The new members are Dennis Alvin Dooley, 41 W. Lincoln Ave.; Charles Robert Shearer, E. Middle St.; Donald Holland, 243 N. Washington St. and Israel Tabor, Gettysburg R. 2.

The 37th anniversary of the founding of the American Legion in Paris was observed with members of the auxiliary presenting the Legion members with a birthday cake and a check for $50 as a "birthday gift" to the post. Mrs. Raymond Fridinger, president of the auxiliary, made the presentation.

ter the shopping center parking lot there and the possibility of a greater traffic danger if the street is made all one-way south.

Restrict Parking
Council decided to abolish parking on the south side of W. Lincoln Ave. from College Ave. to Carlisle St. "Until the state rebuilds the street," "The curb was placed in accordance with state specifications so that it would be at the right level when the state rebuilds the street," Engineer LeRoy Winebrenner explained. "As a result there is a fairly deep ditch which prohibits cars from parking close to the curb."

Councilman Hartzell suggested some revisions in the code to prevent recurrence of a situation on Carlisle St. "We now have a motel sticking out like a sore thumb beyond the building line of the rest of the street. It's too late for us to do anything about that but we should do something about the future," he said.

Winebrenner was authorized to paint yellow lines for school bus parking at Lincoln School on the Hanover and York St. sides of the building, and to extend the yellow line at the College book store.

The question of where the factory located in the former Warren Chevrolet garage at the corner of York and S. Stratton Sts. can park its trucks while loading and unloading was turned over to the safety committee and burgess for a recommendation.

A request of Dr. Richard Epley for a parking space at his Chambersburg St. office was rejected. Council pointed out that parking spaces are given physicians because of the emergency nature of their work.

Littlestown GIRL SCOUTERS GOING TO RALLY IN GETTYSBURG

Plans for the annual observance of National Girl Scout Week, in Littlestown, have been announced by Mrs. Kenneth K. Kroh and Mrs. Robert H. Miller, neighborhood co-chairmen of the local Girl Scout organization.

All troop leaders are to give either Mrs. Kroh or Mrs. Miller the name of the girl in her troop who sold the most cookies during the recent cookie sale. The leaders are also asked to see that Mrs. Miller gets the check for the contribution of each troop to the Juliette Low Fund. The girl in the community who sold the most cookies will be the one to present the joint contributions on Saturday at the Juliette Low Rally.

All Brownies and Scouts will meet at 9:15 a.m. Saturday at the fire engine house, to go to the rally in Gettysburg. All girls are requested to wear uniforms if they have them; if not, they are expected to attend the Rally anyhow. Each girl will provide her own box lunch; a beverage will be provided. Anyone who wishes to purchase a used uniform may contact Mrs. Clair A. Beamer, Prince St., for Girl Scout uniforms and Mrs. Leonard Kershner, Lumber St., for Brownie uniforms. Also if there are parents who wish to have outgrown uniforms placed for re-sale, they may give them to either of these women.

To Attend Church
Leaders who would like to have either Mrs. Miller or Mrs. Kroh take care of the insurance for their girls on Saturday are asked to contact them before 7:30 tonight, when they plan to leave for the Adams County Council meeting in Gettysburg.

The Girl Scouts and Brownies will attend church on Sunday, meeting at 10:15 a.m. on the basement floor of Redeemer's Evangelical and Reformed Church, to attend the 10:30 a.m. worship as a unit. The Catholic girls will meet at 7:15 a.m. in the vestibule of St. Aloysius Church, to attend the 7:30 a.m. mass.

It is expected that those troops who plan to decorate windows for Girl Scout Week will have them ready by Sunday, the first day of Girl Scout Week. Judging for the displays will take place on Tuesday, Mar. 13.

The March meeting of the leaders and troop committee members will be held next Monday at the Alpha engine house at 7:30 p.m. There will be graduation for the senior troop, in connection with the meeting.

"THE EVENING LIGHT"

In the quiet of the evening . . . when the world is lulled to rest . . . I find wonderful contentment . . . for I put aside my quest . . . I forget the day now ended . . . and the things that came to be . . . for the magic peace of silence . . . has taken hold of me . . . worries leave my mental storehouse . . . just like birds upon the wing . . . and deep inside my heart I find . . . a tender song to sing . . . as the great red ball of fire . . . sinks into horizons blue . . . there is beauty sent from heaven . . . that my eyes are blessed to view . . . I believe God made the evening . . . so that man could realize . . . the reason for his being here . . . beneath the tranquil skies . . . so, whenever I am able . . . in the evening light I pray . . . to gain the strength I need to face . . . the cares that come with day.

elsewhere. It also led to others entering the mass production field. The store owner could no longer pay a good clerk the wages he should receive under the program of slow turn over of product, and so in a sense the super market was born.

"Manufacturers were crowding into the market as well, with mass produced articles. The clerk could no longer be aware of the background of all articles. And so the manufacturer was forced to advertise his product, do his selling directly to the public. The manufacturer also had to put it in a package that could be easily identified, and one that made the customer want to buy it.

"The stores went in for open shelves and marked prices and left the customer do his own buying, directed by the advertising he had read and the appeal of the package to him. Thus packaging became more and more important.

Officers On Vacations
"The general tempo of living has also increased, along with mass production and competition. The average housewife of a generation ago had time to clean the beans, and cook them, to buy the flour and mix the cake and bake it. Today many do not have that time and so manufacturers put a lot of hours of what formerly had been household work into their products and thus must develop better packages to show what has been done, to make the potential purchaser hungry for the product, and protect the article until it can be used by the purchaser.

"So billions are spent by industry to put the best foot of their product forward. Don't you think that perhaps a little of that might apply to us? We are constantly selling our product — ourselves and our abilities. Don't you think we ought to put our best foot forward as well?"

Past President Roy Hammond presided in the absence of President Philip M. Jones who was reported in Bermuda and Vice President John Hostetter who was reported in Florida. Past District Governor Ernest Dunbar was introduced. Fifty attended the meeting. Dr. Richard Newsham told of plans for a district conference at York next month.

be delivered by the Rev. Porter W. Seiwel at Redeemer's Reformed Church Lenten worship. At the close of the service, the Senior Choir will rehearse. The March meeting of the Consistory will follow, at 8:30 p.m. in the church social hall.

reconditioning of the mosquito spray machine. Councilman C. Donald Rebert and Borough Engineer LeRoy H. Winebrenner said factory representatives are planning to come here and install new jet nozzles and replace worn parts in order to have the machine in shape for the summer's spraying. The council action not only authorized repair but installation of improved types of parts to replace present worn parts.

The 30-foot strip of land on E. Middle St. which council several months ago believed might belong to the borough has been found to be part of the former Winters Estate. Winebrenner and Rebert reported. Notice is to be sent to the "owners or owners" notifying them that a sidewalk must be placed.

Rebert Objects
Councilman Rebert asked for further information "in the future about what the fire company buys. I'm not against the fire company, but we councilmen ought to know what the borough money is being spent for." He said he was referring to the approximately $2,000 which the borough provides annually for such items as host, rain coats, boots, helmets and similar equipment. All such bills are subject to final approval by the Finance committee of council. It was pointed out, and most of the expenditure is based on a plan of partial replacement of such equipment each year. Councilman Rebert held that when amounts over $50 are to be spent by the fire department the matter should be brought before council and bids asked.

President Oyler turned the matter over to the Finance committee to study and make a recommendation at next meeting.

Rebert also urged a study of storm sewers on Chambersburg St. "to find out just what is needed to correct the drainage problems there and how much it will cost so we can put something in the budget for next year in order to correct this situation."

Wife Broadcasts Appeal

Then Thompson was put on the police radio.

Madara's wife was summoned and she broadcast an appeal. By this time, Madara had approached the Bristol (Pa.)-Burlington (N.J.) bridge and several times slowed down as if to stop. But each time, he sped up again, with 10 police cars in pursuit.

A roadblock was set up on the bridge but Madara went through. When he was on the New Jersey side, his wife continued her pleas — "Joe, come on home and talk it over."

Police said he fired twice at New Jersey troopers but missed each time. Still fearful for their comrades, police held their fire.

Then, with pleas from Father Lynch, and his wife still being broadcast, he came back over the bridge, drove into Philadelphia and to his wife's home.

As he started to leave the car, the policeman, Edward Witherspoon, grabbed and disarmed him, taking Madara's pistol and the two he had seized.

SAN FRANCISCO HAS NO TROUBLE STAYING AT TOP

By NICK ELLENA
The Associated Press

The San Francisco Dons easily retained the top ranking in the Associated Press poll this week.

Should they retain their No. 1 ranking in the final poll of the season next week, they will have been voted the top team in the nation for 19 straight weeks by the country's sports writers and broadcasters. They've been on top 14 times this season, plus five times last year.

Along with that a victory over St. Mary's tonight would give them an undefeated regular season with 25 straight victories and an all-time major college record of 51 straight.

North Carolina State Up

While San Francisco cornered the voting with 1,162 out of a possible 1,311 points, North Carolina State surprised by vaulting from fifth to second place, Illinois plopped from the runner-up spot all the way to seventh.

Other changes saw Vanderbilt and North Carolina drop out of the top 10 while Kentucky (No. 9) was readmitted and UCLA (No. 10) joined the select group for the first time this season. Dayton (No. 3), Alabama, the Southeastern Conference champion (No. 4), and Louisville (No. 6) retained the same spots they held last week.

The Big Ten leader Iowa jumped from 10th to fifth and Southern Methodist, Southwest Conference champion, from ninth to eighth to round out the top 10.

"Everyone in boxing knows that Tarantino and I have been partners in Italian fighters for 20 years," said Johnston. "We had an oral understanding. I'm no undercover manager."

Asked by Helfand why he hadn't filed assignee papers with the commission, Johnston replied that he was out of town when Tarantino filed contracts for Rosi and Scorticini and that Tarantino was not in town when he (Johnston) filed the Minelli contract. Asked why he didn't advise the commission later of his share in the fighters, Johnston said, "It slipped my mind."

"It was a misunderstanding," said Tarantino, who has a limited command of English.

Southern Lawyer Is Named To Senate

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP) — Greenville lawyer Thomas A. Wofford, 47, was appointed to the U.S. Senate yesterday to succeed Strom Thurmond. Thurmond's resignation becomes effective April 4.

Wofford will serve until the November general election and then resign to give the elected candidate seniority over any new senators taking seats in Congress next January.

Thurmond resigned Saturday in line with a campaign pledge made in 1954 when he won an unprecedented write-in victory.

Thurmond said he would run in the June 12 Democratic primary.

Although the number of U.S. heart disease deaths per 100,000 people declined from 1931 to 1955, the number of deaths from other causes decreased more rapidly so that the proportion of heart disease to total deaths was increased.

VETERANS ARE LOOKING GOOD IN CLUB CAMPS

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Up to now the youngsters, contending for major league berths, have hogged the spotlight in the spring training camps. But the veterans are beginning to make their weight felt now.

Home run slugger Hank Sauer, who disappointed the Chicago Cubs with a dismal season in 1955, powered a 400-foot home run in batting practice yesterday despite a sore ankle. Hank has brought smiles to Manager Stanley Hack's face with his solid hitting.

Furthermore, pitcher Russ Meyer, acquired from the Dodgers, successfully weathered a severe test of his ailing elbow. He complained the elbow locked on him while fielding a grounder Sunday.

Pitchers Look Good

Harry Byrd, the ex-Yankee, who has been modifying his pitching delivery in the hopes of improving on his last season's 7-8 record for the Chicago White Sox, hurled three hitless innings.

The Brooklyn Dodgers stand to lose their World Series sensation Johnny Podres to the draft this month but they were cheered by the excellent performances of Carl Erskine and Billy Loes in batting practice stints. For Loes it was the first time he has thrown hard all spring.

Don Newcombe pitched for 15 minutes despite a blister on his thumb and it was hoped the soreness in his arm which plagued him at World Series time has disappeared.

Mays Sparkles

Wes Westrum of the New York Giants hit two home runs in an intrasquad game. He has been taking batting tips from ex-slugger Johnny Mize.

The Giants also got a sparkling show from Willie Mays, who nailed a runner at the plate with a 350-foot peg. Mays also made a fine catch of a long drive as his team, the Davey Williams Wallpapers, downed the Ray Mueller Maulers 3-0.

Other veterans from whom managers are expecting a lift this season are Bobby Thomson of the Braves, Ray Jablonski of the Redlegs, Jerry Lynch of the Pirates, Pete Runnels of the Senators and Frank Smith of the Cardinals.

Sports In Brief

GOLF

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. — Mickey Wright, San Diego, Calif., overcame a three-stroke deficit in the final round to take the $5,000 Jacksonville Women's Open with a 72-hole total of 294.

Saw Bow Of Ship Going By In Wrong Direction; Rescued Woman Tells Of Ocean Drama

SEATTLE (AP) — "There were three sharp cracks — crack, crack, crack, just like that. And then the general alarm rang. I rushed out of my cabin and there was the bow of the ship streaking by in the other direction."

"It was a sight that will be burned in my memory forever. I thought — this is it!"

That, in the words of Mrs. Vernon Lester of West Vancouver, B.C., is the way the freighter Washington Mail broke in two in the storm-swept Gulf of Alaska at 1:15 p.m. last Saturday.

All Were Saved

The 60 crewmen and passengers on the Washington Mail were rescued by the Navy troopship Gen. H. B. Freeman.

The Lesters, along with 48 of the survivors, came back to the United States last night aboard a chartered plane from Kodiak, where the Freeman landed the ship shortly after noon yesterday.

It was a second honeymoon for the Lesters. They left their four daughters — 18, 15, 11 and 5 — at home — and took the Washington Mail for Tokyo.

"On our first honeymoon I ran out of money," remarked Lester. "On this one, we ran out of ship."

"Nothing To Worry About" "There was no sign of anything wrong," said Lester. "It was after lunch, and we had gone to our cabin to rest. We had had rough weather, yes, but the sailors said: 'It's nothing to worry about. It can get much worse out here.' And then there were the three tremendous crashes."

"We thought we had hit something," his wife said. "When the general alarm rang, we put on our life belts. Vern told me to put on a pair of his trousers over my slacks. My suit coat and skirt I wrapped around my head and shoulders for warmth. And I grabbed a coat too.

"Our cabin was right next to the lifeboats and as I rushed out on deck there was the bow of the ship rushing by in the other direction. That was when I thought: This is it."

"Nearly Dark And Snowing"

"That was the rough time," Mrs. Lester said of the order to abandon ship. "It was nearly dark by then, and snowing and the waves were 40 feet high."

"I had put on my husband's trousers over my slacks and as I started up the deck I almost stumbled. The darned trousers had slipped down to my ankles. But it broke the tension for everyone. It made them laugh."

The Lesters and a number of others moved toward the lifeboat hanging from davits. As the lifeboat swung in toward the ship the women were lifted and tossed inside. The men waited and one by one jumped into the swinging boat.

"God Was With Us"

Two lifeboats were lowered, filled with the 60 crewmen and passengers. They made for the Freeman, about 1,000 yards away.

The Washington Mail sank about 12 minutes after the second lifeboat pulled away.

When the lifeboats pulled alongside the Freeman, the crew of the troopship dropped cradles and lines to take the passengers aboard.

"Do you know—they say no ship has ever been wrecked in the North Pacific and all of the people aboard saved," Mrs. Lester said. "God was with us all right. And now I'm going home and I'm never going to leave again."

NEFF'S ACTIONS "IMPROPER BUT NOT ILLEGAL"

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. George (D-Ga.) said today Nebraska lawyer-lobbyist John M. Neff engaged in "manifestly improper" activities in behalf of the natural gas bill but that he sees nothing illegal in them.

George heads a special investigating committee which yesterday wound up public hearings into Neff's offer of a $2,500 campaign donation rejected by Sen. Francis Case (R-SD). George said the evidence indicates Neff engaged in a "clear pattern" of activities in five states to drum up support for the measure, and he told newsmen:

"His actions were manifestly improper but no crime was committed as far as I can see."

A federal grand jury has been conducting its own inquiry to see if there is evidence of any law violation.

George said Sen. Case was to be "commended for the action he took" in telling the Senate during the gas bill debate that he was rejecting the $2,500 offered him by Neff. Case said he felt it represented an "abnormal interest" in his vote on the bill. Case voted against the measure when the Senate passed it.

President Eisenhower subsequently vetoed the bill, which would have exempted natural gas producers from direct federal regulation. Eisenhower said he did so because "arrogant" tactics were used in its behalf.

George said it is his opinion that Neff was "trying to make good with the people who put up the money" in an effort "either to bolster existing sentiment or create sentiment for the gas bill."

Neff was shown in testimony to have talked with persons, either in person or by telephone, in Nebraska, South Dakota, Iowa, Montana and Wyoming.

Churchmen Hail Strong Religious Movement, but Some Have Doubts

America's mixed religious family had its tribulations and its triumphs in 1955. In many ways, the country seemed to be more spiritual-minded than ever.

People flocked to worship services, and new churches and synagogues went up at a record clip. Popular songs, magazines and books brimmed with religious themes and the nation's President set a devout example.

Suburbia—that bustling new American heartland of young couples and children—made the church a community center. Millions hung on the words of Bishop Fulton J. Sheen and Dr. Norman Vincent Peale.

Evangelist Billy Graham continued to stir waves of fervor, in this country and Europe where 3½ million swarmed to hear him.

Amid all the external religious vigor, however, some serious churchmen had misgivings. Is it genuine or a fad?

They wondered if the real message of repentance and judgment was being submerged in a comfort-seeking euphoria of sentiment.

Worried self-analysis—and some shame—pricked at the churches as social upheaval battered at the walls of racial segregation. For the churches, as much as any other institution, have clung to the color line.

Major denominations slapped at the practice in their national pronouncements, but it usually held on at home.

In Louisiana, Roman Catholic Archbishop Rummel closed a parish until its members agreed to accept a Negro priest. The Episcopal church shifted its convention to Honolulu from Houston, Texas, to avoid any segregation.

A plan to unite the three branches of the Presbyterian church failed when the southern branch—which had originated it—voted it down.

In the Midwest, the heresy trials of three young Lutheran ministers caused painful ponderings in a church founded on the idea of individual faith being pre-eminent over dogma.

A Senate committee scheduled a hearing on religious freedom, but called it off in the face of tense Protestant-Catholic-Jewish feelings about church-state relationships.

Baptist, Quaker and Methodist churchmen visited Russia, reported religion thriving there. John D. Rockefeller Jr. gave 20 million dollars to promote theological education.

Old Tension Of Cold War Is Continued

The world's two contesting groups of nations walked a political treadmill in 1955.

The year began with all the tensions of the last 10 years and ended the same way. In between, Russia dropped Georgi Malenkov as premier and assumed a new look. Two peace conferences were held at Geneva. When they were over, the extent of the schism had been confirmed.

The nations did seem, however, to be more and more aware that they must avoid war. The Russians were still willing to promote other people's wars, and started arming Egypt, who threatened to attack Israel. The Western Allies persuaded both countries that they'd better not start anything.

Red China stopped at the Formosa strait, and threatened war there simmered down into waiting.

The general movement against colonialism became more active. Asian-African nations conferred at Bandung, Indonesia, were more level-headed about it than had been expected, but there was no lack of firmness or intent. In North Africa the struggle for independence produced serious fighting against the French.

During Russia's brief sweetness and light campaign she agreed to return Austria's sovereignty, but at the conferences she made it clear she wasn't about to do the same for a reunited Germany.

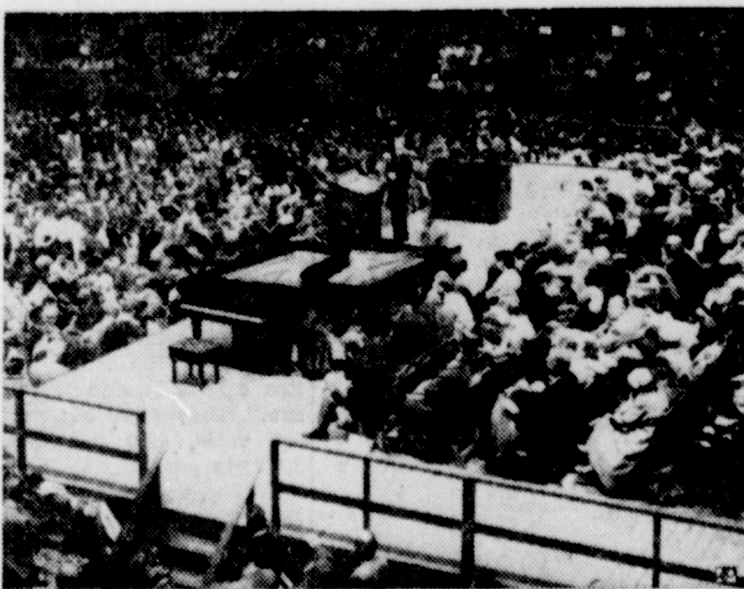

Three world personalities attracted great attention. In Britain Mr. John Bull, in the person of Winston Churchill, bowed to age and infirmities and stepped down from the prime ministry.

Also in Britain a young woman bowed to the dictates of conscience and family responsibility and renounced the man she loved—who had been divorced—in favor of her duty to church and state. Margaret acted like a princess.

For weeks the free world listened to the ticking of an American heart. When President Eisenhower stepped back into the world picture with an invitation for a visit from Anthony Eden there were many expressions of rejoicing that he was back at work for peace.

A whole year had gone by without open war.

Nation Struggles to Meet Climbing Education Needs

Five significant events dominated the 1955 educational picture with its somewhat eased shortages of school buildings and qualified teachers and its climbing enrollments. They are:

1. President Eisenhower's Feb. 8 message to Congress calling for limited federal aid for school construction.

2. Supreme Court's order to states with segregated schools that they get going on segregation program. Some states are seeking a way around the court's order.

3. The White House Conference on Education which approved federal school building aid.

4. Rudolph Flesch's controversial book, "Why Johnny Can't Read."

Flesch upheld the phonics method of teaching reading. When the storm died down, it appeared that most schools do use phonics but use other tested approaches with them.

5. Disbanding of the Progressive Education Assn. In a "funeral address," its president said: "It passes on with its work done, its influence great."

The U.S. office of Education reported school enrollment of 30,574,162, up 3.5 per cent over 1954; 1,138,922 teachers, up 6.9 per cent; 66,258 more school rooms, up 10.4 per cent.

But other reports indicated the increased facilities are not enough. The Fund for the Advancement of Education said future teacher supply could not keep up with enrollments and asked the nation to find new ways to make better use of teachers.

A White House Conference Committee estimated the nation will be short 374,250 class rooms by 1960 at the present rate of construction.

The Office of Education estimated 1955 college enrollment at 2,716,000, up 8.6 per cent over 1954. The federal college housing loan fund was boosted 200 million dollars to 500 million with lowered interest rates. Private corporations and foundation funds gave more attention to colleges, but many institutions still did not know how they would deal with the future flood of students.

One of the important private gifts was the Ford Foundation's 500 million dollars divided between schools and hospitals.

Farm Trouble Contrasted With Climbing Prosperity

Agriculture saw its recurring problems of declining prices and farmer incomes and the accumulation of troublesome surpluses worsen in 1955.

As a consequence, it got further out of step with booming nonagricultural phases of the economy.

Moneywise, farm prices declined another 5 per cent during the year, but there was no lack of firmness or intent. In North Africa the struggle for independence produced serious fighting against the French.

Two factors joined hands to help pull prices and incomes lower. They were the existence of a seven-billion-dollar surplus supply of farm products which, by their very existence, served to depress prices.

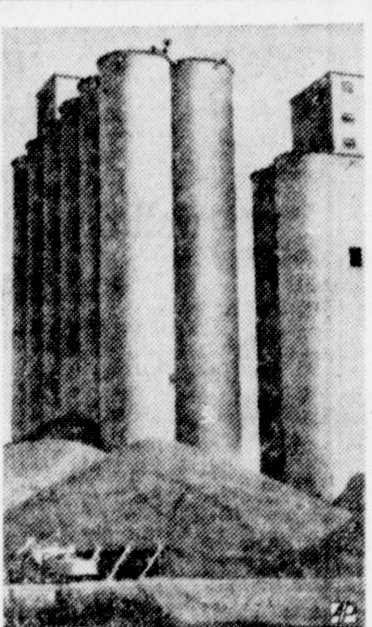

In the background stood the fact that farmers as a whole have made little or no headway in adjusting production for abnormally high levels of the war and immediate postwar period to the lower demands of peacetime.

This continued down trend in the farm economy brought on criticism of the Eisenhower administration farm program and of Secretary of Agriculture Benson.

In reply Benson said the administration program has not yet had a chance to effect an improvement in the farm situation, but agreed that new measures are needed.

The administration concentrated heavily on efforts to move surpluses abroad, but found many barriers in the form of increased competition and foreign protests that U.S. dumping would wreck world markets and arouse resentment against this country.

Use of Polio Vaccine, Big Gain for Science

Science in 1955 brought victory over polio and a first step toward conquering Space.

The Salk polio vaccine, after a wavering, tragedy-marred start, proved 80 per cent or more effective in preventing paralytic polio, even on a single shot. Not since May, said government officials, has any case of polio been blamed upon vaccination.

The United States announced within two years it will send man-made moons circling the earth, to begin probing mysteries of space. Russia plans similar satellites. It is a beginning toward human travel in space.

President Eisenhower's heart attack dramatically focussed attention on the need for more research on heart diseases. And it made more meaningful such news reports as these:

Today 80 to 90 per cent of persons survive the first coronary attack. New and improved mechanical heart-lung machines are coming into almost routine life-saving use. The great killer and crippler of children, rheumatic fever, can be prevented by prompt use of penicillin.

Medical research produced a vaccine against poison ivy: a raft of new antibiotics showing promise against a variety of diseases; a more potent drug to combat arthritis. Also new calm-down or tranquilizing drugs to aid the mentally and emotionally ill. And hopeful progress toward the goal of someday transplanting entire organs from one person to another.

Physicists discovered the antiproton, an important new particle in the interior of atoms. Chemists created a new element—element No. 101—dead since shortly after the birth of the universe.

Solar energy experts reported first steps toward harnessing the sun's energy to heat homes, cook food, produce fresh water from the sea, create abundant food supplies. A practical solar battery used the sun to power a rural telephone circuit in Georgia.

Other scientists patiently added step by step to knowledge that could bring control of cancers and the common cold, longer life, and inventions as yet undreamed of.

The Light Side People Were Individuals

This is the time of year to look back nostalgically on memorable events of 1955. Such as:

Major judicial decision—A blonde was ruled a liability. The plaintiff listed a blonde as the cause of divorce and therefore among common property to be divided. But, said the Muskegon, Mich., judge: "... such an item is not an asset but is rather a tremendous liability."

Major judicial indecision—A loser in a bathing beauty contest at Whitmore Lake, Mich., claimed that 12 of the 20 girls were fakes. Said a judge: "I didn't... I suppose I should... they're great guns!" In a moment he added: "This should be avoided next year." Then a fellow judge asked quietly: "How?"

Gallic fury—A husband in Mulhouse, France, wanted to sue the gunsmith who had sold him a gun that hadn't worked when he tried to shoot his wife. Police took an unsympathetic view, charged him with attempted murder.

Enthusiasm unlimited—Three Montgomery, Ala., convicts were discovered printing $5 bills in the Draper Prison printing shop.

Do-it-yourself—A Vancouver, B.C. man bought the parts and installed a new differential in his English car. Then he found he had four speeds in reverse and one forward.

Medical origins—Tonsillitis Jackson had tonsillitis while being examined for Naval enlistment at San Diego. The coincidence brought on explanations: Tonsillitis' mother was having tonsillitis when he was born so the name naturally occurred to her. It got to be a family tradition, these quaint, wholesome old names. Now Tonsillitis has a brother named Meningitis, four sisters named Appendicitis, Laryngitis, Peritonitis and Jekelitis.

A man-can't-win entry—A South Bend, Ind., woman won a divorce after testifying her husband was too silent. He spoke to her only once a year for eight years—to get information for his income tax return. But a DuPont, N.J. woman won a divorce because her husband talked too much. Specifically, he said she looked like a "left-over mask from Halloween."

Entertainment Has a Big Year in 1955

Movies

The year 1955 in Hollywood probably will be remembered as the year of the big budget—and maybe the year of the big gross.

Two seven million dollar pictures were made during the year and one six million dollar musical. They were "Oklahoma," "The Ten Commandments" and "Guys and Dolls."

Significantly, the last two were made by two of the industry's pioneers—Cecil B. deMille and Sam Goldwyn. Trade sources predict that all three will become record grossers. Oscar Hammerstein II opines that "Oklahoma" may well become the industry's first 50 million grosser. A 30 million gross from the stage version accents his optimism.

... James Bacon

Theater

The Broadway theater had so many shows in 1955 that there were too few playhouses. Tennessee Williams' "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof" won both the Pulitzer Prize and the New York Drama Critics Circle Award. Hit musicals such as "Damn Yankees," "Fanny" and "The Pajama Game" found only two new competitors in "The Vamp" and the new Rodgers and Hammerstein musical, "Pipe Dream."

The drama based on the Scopes "Monkey" trial, "Inherit the Wind," continued with Paul Muni returning to his role after an eye operation. "Bus Stop," "The Teahouse of the August Moon," "The Diary of Anne Frank," "Will Success Spoil Rock Hunter?" and "No Time For Sergeants" were other hits.

... Mark Barron

Radio-TV

Innumerable dramas and musicals highlighted the television year of 1955. There was a marked tendency to utilize Hollywood and Broadway big names in most of them. At the same time television contributed many notable talents in actors, directors and writers to the movies and stage.

The polls generally found that the most popular new regular program of the year was "The $64,000 Question" on CBS-TV.

While radio had no revolutionary changes in its concept in 1955, sales of radio sets took a pronounced rise. Radio found an increasing audience on car sets. Critics praised the quality of music on radio in 1955 and there appeared to be a general increased interest in radio news programs.

Eisenhower Heart Attack Stirs Up Political Action

The politically active year 1955 sprouted a plentiful supply of potential presidential candidates and issues and promises a dramatic fight for the 1956 farm vote.

President Eisenhower's heart attack in September marked a political turning point of the pre-election year. Overnight it cast deep gloom over Republican hopes for 1956 and helped produce a raft of possible White House aspirants in both parties.

At the year's end, however, talk began to increase that Eisenhower might run again after all. Adlai E. Stevenson, his Democratic opponent in 1952, was off to a running start as the only avowed candidate for the Democratic nomination, but more were expected in the ring.

Issues came with candidate booms in a year that brought almost a continuous round of partisan debate from the January opening of a Democratically-controlled Congress to the November gains by the Democrats in local elections.

Republicans carried high their "peace, progress and prosperity" banner. Democrats put falling farm income and what they called "big business" government high on their list of 1956 talking points. The Democrats also tossed back "misconduct in government" charges to Republicans who raised that issue against them in 1952, and claimed credit for repudiation by the GOP administration of the Dixie-Yates private power contract which Eisenhower ordered negotiated by the Atomic Energy Commission. Foreign policy loomed as a possible 1956 talking point, but there were efforts in both parties to soft-pedal it.

The farm debate developed demands for the resignation of Secretary of Agriculture Benson. The President stood by his Cabinet member and Benson himself argued "the worst part of our adjustment is behind us."

Basically, the Republicans stood by flexible price supports, while Democrats urged a return to high rigid price plans.

Other political highlights of the year: Congress—Eisenhower said Congress' record on foreign affairs was commendable, but criticized its showing on domestic legislation. Democratic leaders replied the record was fruitful and would have been better if GOP members had cooperated with the President more.

Conventions—Republicans decided to hold their 1956 convention in San Francisco Aug. 20; the Democrats in Chicago Aug. 13. Both parties fixed later than usual dates, with the idea of waging shorter campaigns.

Labor—Agreement of the AFL and CIO to merge increased the power of organized labor as a political force, most observers agreed, but labor leaders denied it.

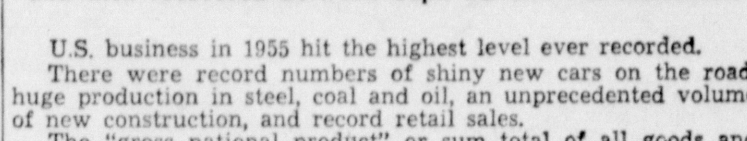

U.S. business in 1955 hit the highest level ever recorded. There were record numbers of shiny new cars on the road, huge production in steel, coal and oil, an unprecedented volume of new construction, and record retail sales.

The "gross national product" or sum total of all goods and services produced hit an all-time high of 387 billion dollars—a gain of 26½ billions over the year before. As 1955 drew to a close, GNP was rocketing along at an annual pace of nearly 400 billions.

Behind this lay record spending by big business and little consumers. Giant corporations poured billions of dollars into new plants and equipment.

Mr. and Mrs. Average Consumer were splurging on their own. Convenient on-the-cuff arrangements cast a magic spell—by the end of September American consumers were in hock to the tune of more than 34½ billions for automobiles, appliances, furniture and other goods and services bought on time.

TEMPORARY SCARE—Against the background of the New York stock market, the chart shows how stocks tumbled and then recovered between Sept. 26 and mid-December.

Consumer spending at the start of the booming fourth quarter was racing along at a record annual clip of 26 billion dollars. Personal disposable income, although up a hefty 9 per cent from the year before, could not keep pace with the steep rise in consumer buying.

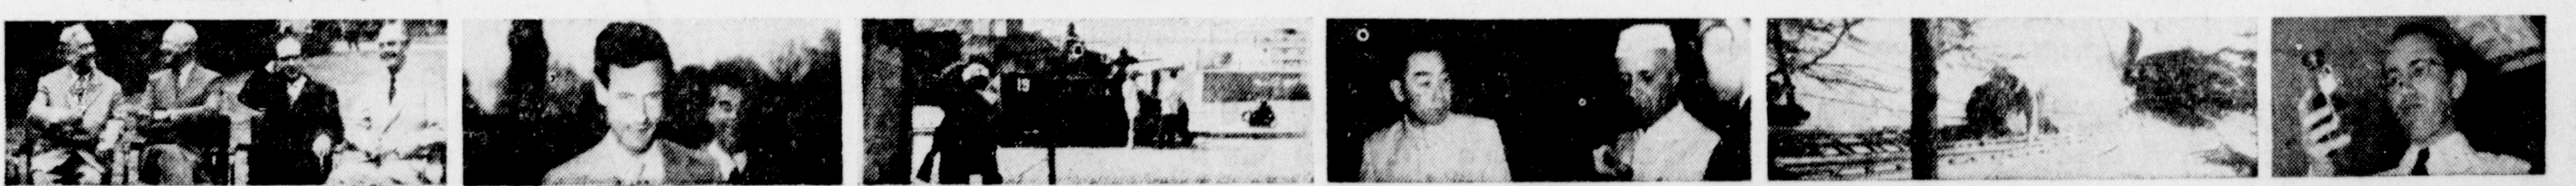

Biggest jolt to business sentiment was President Eisenhower's heart attack. It produced immediate repercussions in Wall Street (The Associated Press stock average skidded $11.40 on Sept. 26—the biggest drop since 1929). But the effects were temporary. By mid-October business trends were on the upbeat again, with the year heading for a whirlwind finish.

So vigorous was the boom during 1955 that the federal government tried to slow it. Four times, the Federal Reserve System hiked the interest rate it charges on loans to member banks; the rate in November was the highest in more than 20 years. Terms were tightened on government-guaranteed mortgage loans.

Aim of the credit crackdown was to prevent a runaway accumulation of business which might result in shortages of industrial materials, higher prices all along the line and another round of inflation.

But government said, that the minute business showed any signs of slowing down, credit would be eased again.

PARENTS RAPPED AS GROUP LISTS 'UNDESIRABLES'

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—Mom and Pop got rapped harder than the kids at this city's conference on delinquency and other juvenile problems.

Superior Judge Roger Pfaff urged making parents "criminally responsible for the criminal acts of their children," and a panel session of the Community Conference on Youth came up with a check list of undesirable parental types.

The "Seesawer Parent"
Mrs. Russell Grant, Parent-Teacher Assn. council secretary, gave the panel this rundown on "typical failures" among mothers and fathers who undertake to be "disciplinarians."

"There is (first) the 'seesawer parent,' who is as stern as Capt. Bligh one day and an indulgent parent the next," said Mrs. Grant. Then, she said, there is the "flash-back" type, who is always saying, "Kids didn't do things like that in my day."

Others Discourage Children
The "superior parent," she says, "is completely satisfied that mother and father know best, and will discuss nothing with children." The Nervous Nellie type, said Mrs. Grant, foresees danger in whatever her child is doing or plans to do, and, consequently, discourages all of her children's activities.

"The tab-keeper," said Mrs. Grant, "expects an hour-by-hour account of children's time," and "ambitious parents" are always urging their kids to seek "greater accomplishments—perhaps to justify their own failures in life."

"Finally," she concluded, "there is the heavy chaperon who wants Johnny to bring his friends home and when he does 'the heavy chaperon' acts like a 'private eye' on a big investigation."

Judge Pfaff, in attacking what he called "coddling" of delinquents, had this to say of juveniles who repeatedly violate the law and the terms of their probation:

"In such cases the parents have certainly been put on notice concerning the antisocial behavior of their child, and parents' records of continued indifference and refusal to accept their parental obligations should justify filing a criminal complaint against them."

SCRANTON, Pa. (AP)—Judge Philip O. Carr, 41, of Uniontown, was sworn in Monday as a member of the Pennsylvania Superior Court by President Judge Chester H. Rhodes as the appellate body opened its annual term at the Lackawanna County Courthouse.

BALL-BEARING HIP INSTALLED

PITTSBURGH (AP)—A Lock Haven papermill worker was maneuvered around West Penn Hospital today with the aid of a pair of crutches and a metal ball-bearing hip joint which he received in a recently-developed type of operation.

Herbert LeRoy Glossner, 53, had been unable to walk for nearly a year before the operation. He plans now to go home soon, and hopes to be able to walk in comfort without even using crutches. Glossner, an employee of the New York Papermill, began experiencing severe pain in his legs about 18 months ago. "It felt as if my left leg was getting shorter," he

SENATOR SAYS HE TOOK GIFT

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Goldwater (R-Ariz.) says he accepted a campaign contribution from a member of the family that controls Superior Oil Co. of California.

Goldwater added, in an ABC-TV interview on Sunday, that he doesn't think this should affect his membership on a special Senate committee planning a broad investigation of lobbying and campaign contributions.

He said he could name "four or five Democrats who received contributions" from the same source. He did not elaborate.

An aide in Goldwater's office quoted the senator Monday as saying his contribution came from "Bill" Keck.

There are two William Kecks in the family. William Myron Sr. is Superior's board chairman. One of his sons, William Myron Jr. is an independent oil operator.

Records in the office of the Arizona secretary of state list a contribution of $250 for Goldwater's campaign fund from a Matthew Keck of Chicago. The Goldwater aide could not place that name.

Doctors diagnosed his ailment as degenerative arthritis of both hips. He finally had to leave his job because he could not stand upright to work. Then a sister, Mrs. Guy Mapstone, a dietitian at West Penn Hospital, persuaded him to come here for examination in the orthopedic department.

There the surgeons recently removed the pivoting bone portion of his upper left leg, replaced it with a new one made of vitallium, a steel alloy, and inserted it into the natural socket. Recovering from the operation, Glossner finds the operation provides him almost normal hip movement in walking.

The annual state-wide Easter Seal appeal starts March 10 and concludes April 10.

EASTON, Pa. (AP)—A $300,000 fire damaged two wings of a 73-year-old dormitory on the Lafayette College campus Saturday night.

There were no injuries. The flames also toppled a steeple and its bell which had been used for years to ring out news of football victories.

University President John Schlegel estimated the monetary loss.

LONDON (AP)—Britain recalled the remaining senior British officers in Jordan's Arab Legion Monday in retaliation for King Hussein's curt dismissal of Lt. Gen. John Bagot Glubb, the Arab Legion founder and commander.

HARRISBURG (AP)—A new system of writing state payroll checks automatically was in use today by the State Treasury Department.

State Treasurer Weldon Heyburn said the department handles 250,000 checks each month, of which 150,000 are recurring items. Prior to initiation of the new system all checks returned from banks were processed on a manual basis by clerks.

LONDON (AP)—Britain Monday offered rebellious Cyprus a "wide measure of self-government now."

Colonial Secretary Alan T. Lennox-Boyd made the announcement in a speech prepared for the House of Commons. He also released a White Paper outlining Britain's negotiations with Cyprus, who demand union of the island colony with Greece.

ZURICH, Switzerland (AP)—Socialist parties of 14 Western nations will shun popular-front coalitions with the Communists despite Soviet party chief Nikita S. Khrushchev's recent overtures. The Council of the Socialist International set the policy Monday at the windup of a three-day conference.

One government expert estimates that although U.S. farm income has dropped 25 per cent in the last few years, the reduction in the number of farmers in the same period has been such that the reduction of average individual income has been only 9 per cent.

ADENAUER WINS SIX MORE SEATS

STUTTGART, Germany (AP)—With the last state election hurdle Adenauer's Christian Democratic Union looked ahead today with renewed confidence to the 1957 nationwide election.

The CDU turned back an opposition challenge in the rich industrial state of Baden-Wuerttemberg on Sunday and won six more seats in the State Parliament.

Voters in the nation's third largest state gave the CDU 56 of the 120 seats—less than a majority but enough to assure control with coalition party support—in an election that swept the Communist party out of the Parliament. The Reds lost their four seats.

Adenauer's CDU followers rallied around him despite his recent setback in the Ruhr and opposition efforts to end the "Adenauer era." They gave him party 1,392,326 votes, 42.6 per cent of the 3,228,749 cast.

This was almost 10 per cent less than the party's Baden-Wuerttemberg margin in the 1953 general election but topped by 6.6 per cent its edge in the 1952 state election.

The CDU victory sealed Adenauer's control of the upper house of the national Parliament, which gives final approval to West Germany's foreign policy, rearmament and domestic legislation. The Baden-Wuerttemberg parliament elects five members to the national body.

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope Pius XII has warned that the forces of "militant materialism" and a false peace lull before the rest of the world to lull it into a false sense of security.

Addressing envoys of 42 nations gathered to give him birthday greetings, the 80-year-old pontiff declared peace for militant materialism—the term by which the Pope usually refers to communism—means only a truce which awaits "the social and economic collapse of other peoples."

'DraftRhee' Movement Gets Going In Korea

SEOUL, Korea (AP)—The "draft Rhee" bandwagon got rolling in the South Korean capital today.

Some 500 labor unionists paraded Seoul streets carrying banners and chanting slogans urging 80-year-old President Syngman Rhee to seek a third term in this summer's elections.

It was the first of a series of scheduled by Rhee's Liberal party, which offered its veteran leader renomination at a convention yesterday.

Rhee told a party delegation he wants to retire in favor of a younger man but added, "It will be well to listen to public opinion."

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP)—Reliable informants reported Monday that Romania's Communist government has launched a new wave of terror, executing hundreds of opponents and dumping bodies on the street.

HIGH COMMAND TAKES NEW LOOK AT U. S. DEFENSE

By C. YATES McDANIEL

WASHINGTON (AP)—The military high command is taking another "new look" at the forces, weapons and strategy required in the next three years to keep pace with missile-atomic age science and the changing face of world communism.

The Eisenhower administration's new reappraisal of the nation's defenses started Saturday, when the Joint Chiefs of Staff slipped out of Washington unannounced and flew to Ramey Air Force Base in Puerto Rico.

Disclosure of the strategy session came last night when the Pentagon said in reply to reporters' inquiries that the meeting will continue through this week at the isolated air base. It added that the military chiefs meeting there will be able to "devote their full time without interruption" to defense business.

Under Wilson's Orders

Taking part are the chairman, Adm. Arthur W. Radford; Army Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor; Navy Adm. Arleigh Burke; Air Force Gen. Nathan B. Twining; and Marine Gen. Randolph McC. Pate.

The military chiefs are under orders from Secretary of Defense Wilson to make a "complete and careful evaluation of the size, nature and composition of forces likely to be required for the nation's security during the next three years."

Wilson disclosed these plans in a statement to Congress in January. He foresaw then no major change in the over-all size of the armed forces. But he said there would be continuing changes in the "nature and composition" of the military forces in line with scientific progress and changes in the international situation.

Covers Wide Field

The secretary said such a long-range study was needed to provide a sound base for planning "future procurement and other military programs." This means new weapons and equipment.

Pentagon aides, under orders to say no more than necessary about the hideaway meeting of the three generals and two admirals, conceded they have "a whole flock" of other foreign and domestic problems to talk and think about.

In the foreign field, the chiefs will look into the deployment of troops in Europe and Asia, in the light of the Russians' softer approach and the effect on allies and neutrals alike. Also, any strategic review must consider the possibility of how United States forces might be embroiled if fighting should break out in the Middle East.

An armadillo burrow in Texas was found to be home for the armadillo, a rattlesnake, and a rabbit, says the National Geographic Society.

5 years ago some folks wrote WILLS as "dated" now as this pen!

The changes of just a few years in family or finances can make a Will obsolete — unless that vital document is changed correspondingly. If you haven't reviewed your Will with your lawyer recently, you'll be well advised to do so soon.

First, of course, you'll want to review your situation yourself — not neglecting to consider the advantages of our services as executor or trustee. We'll gladly tell you more about them.
